

3CX Introductory Training

The following Terms and Conditions apply to all 3CX Introductory Training attendees

For the purpose of this document “course” refers to the 3CX Introductory Training course.

1. Online registrations for this course are considered as an expression of interest only; it does not guarantee the applicant a place on the course.
2. All applicants are assessed for suitability and must have a proven level of technical competence appropriate for the course.
3. Course places will be offered to qualifying applicants on a 'first come, first served' basis.
4. The maximum number of attendees per course is as specified in the course details on Alloy's website (www.alloy.com.au/training)
5. Alloy reserves the right to change the dates, venues, or number of attendees per course.
6. Alloy reserves the right to postpone or cancel a course.
7. In the event of changes to the course Alloy will promptly communicate the changes to course applicants.

